ABSTRACT

The described embodiments relate to processing systems and methods. One exemplary method walks a source version object base, and maintains state

5   and access to elements that appear to have been removed from the source version object base.

Case 200314903-1